Andersen, Aileen Cliodhna's Wave
Why do people do what they do? Why do some people treat others cruelly and why do some people put up with cruelty? The answers are as complex as the nature of human beings themselves. Emotions often win over intellect, especially in the young whose sexuality can overwhelm them. Such is the case with the two main characters in Cliodhna's Wave, Cliodhna Danielle McDaniels and Des Marshall, II. Their lust for one another leads them down a dangerous road that they are convinced they are destined to travel, but neither sees the hazards ahead.

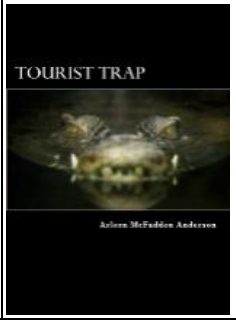
Arleen McFadden Anderson, THE SPIRIT OF TROY

Cathy Pantona is a volunteer for Find-A-Grave.com who helps locate and photograph graves for those inquiring through that website. While trying to find an ancestor for a client at a local cemetery Cathy notices something unusual about the gravesite of one of the prominent families of the area, the Anatolis. Cathy's curiosity piqued, she begins researching the Anatoli family history, much to the dismay of her husband. Cathy starts having disturbing dreams about the Anatolis that she has trouble separating from reality,



Arleen Anderson, Tourist Trap

After spring break, college student, Marili McAdams, decides to move to Key West, Florida with not much more than hopes, dreams, and a half-baked idea of how to survive. Unbeknownst to Marili, every spring for the past number or years, college kids have been disappearing from Key West. Marili hasn't been living in Key West for very long when it appears she might have to return home. In order to stay, she blindly places her trust in a stranger, Carl Tacket (a/k/a Carlos Tequesta), who turns out not to be the benevolent soul she thinks he is. Unable to stay in Key West, Marili decides to try her luck in The Big Apple. She has a series of misadventures and sees a news report on television about missing college students in Key West. In her heart, she knows Carlos Tequesta is the serial killer police are looking for and returns to Key West to prove it.

Beard, Jenny		Jenny D. Beard (Donna Beard), A Leaf From the Wisdom Tree (F, A) A continuation of Jenny D. Beard's saga, Higher Up The Mountain, in that elderly Edith Balmer regales her guests about mysterious deaths and steamy sex that took place in the early 1900's. Before beginning her story, Edith relates the cloak and dagger life of her young neighbor, pretty Debbie Van Buren, who has come into possession of a satchel during a one-night affair. The heavy satchel causes Debbie to watch her back at all times.
Bender, Tom		Tom Bender, Avenging Allison (F, A) In a museum in a town in southern Illinois, an exhibit of erotic art opens. Some people are furious. Meanwhile, in the Shawnee National Forest, south of the town, a 10-year-old boy believes he sees a man falling in the sky. Nothing better to do on a Sunday, a reporter—a man named Morrison—goes looking. None of this seems connected. Then, somebody blows up the art museum. Dead in the rubble is Morrison's lover. "Collateral damage," say the police. Then, Morrison's daughter Allison is hit by a car. Sparks from a bonfire of hate, greed, lust, and fury light up the sky in this second Morrison mystery by Tom Bender.
Best, Peggy		Peggy Best, Unsung Hero (NF, A) This book is a tribute to all service members who have supported support our country throughout our history. It is the story of one man, Major Albert V. Greene, who was a prisoner of war during WWII, and later served in Korea and Vietnam. His life story, couched in the backdrop of American and world history, invokes the spirit of patriotism, duty, and honor all unsung heroes display.
Birkholz, Gay Lynn		Gay Lynn Birkholz, Conscious Passage (NF, A) No one wants to have to second-guess how a loved one wants to be cared for at the end of his or her life, but that hasn't stopped some families from being torn apart by that very question. Gay Lyn Birkholz, a former professor of medical and business ethics who has served on several ethics boards coaching patients and their families through end-of-life ethical dilemmas, examines why it's so important to make your wishes known in this self-help guide. Learn how to: take ownership of end-of-life choices; talk about this topic with family and loved ones; document your care choices and intentions; and give your health care representative a full picture of your wishes. She also tackles the complicated question of the financial burdens that come with end-of-life care, because ending up in a hospital (especially if it involves aggressive treatment) can mean exorbitant expenses. These are your choices, and you have a right for them to be honored. Claim your say, and die on your terms with the guidance in Conscious Passage

Bishop, David	 David Bishop, Love & Other Four-Letter Words (F, A) This novelette lets the reader decide whether this is the story of: -a perfect murder, -or a botched attempted murder, -or simply a death by accident. The Kile/Bishop collaboration came in response to numerous emails from readers asking: If Matt Kile writes fiction when he isn't working as an investigator, why aren't there any stories written by Matt? Being the writer who developed the character of Matt Kile, I got to decide what Matt writes as well as his writing style. Some Kile/Bishop stories will be mysteries, others will better be described as American drama or simply stories about the people who inhabit the mean streets.
Bishop, David	 David Bishop, Scandalous Behavior (F, A) Written by fictional detective Matt Kile, in collaboration with his creator, master mystery writer David Bishop. This novelette tells the story of a regular, hardworking, salt-of-the-earth guy. He pays his bills, loves his mother, and lives by the rules. Then he meets Mary and everything changes. Scandalous Behavior is a mystery and a story of American Drama. The second in the collaboration of Matt Kile and David Bishop. Enjoy.
Bishop, David	 David Bishop, The Twists & Turns of Matrimony and Murder (F, A) The Twists & Turns of Matrimony and Murder sets somewhere between the stories of Prince Charming and War of the Roses. Constance Merriweather remembered the part of her wedding vows about for better or for worse. During and after the ceremony she smiled and played kissy-face while steeling herself for the expected worse. Frank Merriweather thought he was getting the better, but soon learned he was mistaken. The two of them settled in to co-exist in their matrimonial forest. Then came the murder. Everyone knew who was dead, but no one knew for certain who was supposed to be dead. And, of course, who committed the murder was complicated by whether the actual victim was the intended victim.
Bishop, David	 David Bishop, Money and Murder (F A) One of the stories in my Matt Kile Mystery Series. P.Q. Winston Rutledge is the richest man in Copper City, Arizona, and he believes someone will soon try to kill him. The story quickly deteriorates into murder, and the ambitions of relatives in pursuit of his fortune. PQ's family is a collection of oddballs with a common bloodline. Fascinating people you'd love to have at your next dinner party, but each comes with their own set of secrets and entanglements. PQ is survived by a widow, the same age as his daughter, and two sons, one of whom—well, you'll have to read the story. You won't be sorry you did.

Bishop, David		David Bishop, The Year We Had Murder (F, A) The Year We Had Murder is book seven in the Matt Kile Mystery Series. The novel is a frisky, sometimes over-the-top, romp through Hollywood, a town with its own manner, imagery, and code of conduct. Matt finds himself smack dab in the middle of the craziness when he's invited to a Hollywood party where nothing is as it seems. The party is at the home of a famous film producer, who's married to the big screen's current sex symbol. Matt takes his favorite date, Clarice Talmadge, to the gathering of silicone starlets and movie moguls.
Bishop, David		David Bishop. The First Lady's Second Man (F, A) Linda Darby Mystery - Book 3 An assassination is planned in Syria. An extramarital affair occurs in Washington, D.C. The U.S. President decides to run for re-election. A mother and her daughter in Oregon are threatened. Relentlessly, Linda Darby and Ryan Testler are pulled toward these seemingly disparate events until their only way out is to confront what is quickly becoming unavoidable.
Bishop, David		David Bishop. Heart Strike, A Linda Darby Mystery (F, A) An International Thriller: The President of the United States assigns Ryan Testler a cloak-and-dagger mission to Europe in pursuit of support for his new doctrine dealing with the Middle East. Linda Darby accompanies Ryan to create the look of a couple of tourists. That cover story fails. Meanwhile, back in Washington, D.C., a lone terrorist, after four years as a sleeper, is activated. He wants to complete his sworn duty and make his family in Egypt proud. At the same time, his years in America as a sleeper has given him a different view of the country and its people. He struggles with this conflict as Ryan Testler leads the government's efforts to locate him before its too late.
Bishop, David		David Bishop, The Beholder *(F, A) Maddie Richards is an efficient and resourceful detective with a secret wish that she could handle her messy personal life as well as she handles her work life. As a homicide sergeant for the Phoenix, Arizona Police Department, she has one of the highest solve rates in America. Her success leads her chief of police to assign her a serial killer case. Some sicko the press calls the Beholder is killing beautiful women. Her chief describes the case as "a career maker or breaker, get me?" She has an ex-husband she still cares for, but who was bad for her and her ten-year-old son. Her widowed mother who lives with her is both a blessing and a trial. And, oh yes, her ex-husband has married an extremely wealthy and politically connected woman who cannot give birth. So, Maddie's ex is filing a motion to obtain permanent custody of their son, citing the risks attendant to Maddie's police work endanger the boy.

	If that were not enough, the brother-in-law of the chief of police is using his position as an administrative assistant to sexually harass Maddie. She could file a formal complaint, but the good-old-boys network in the department is watching how she handles the situation. Further complicating Maddie's life is two love interests: Gary Packard, a hunk who recently moved in across the street, and Lincoln Rogers, a confirmed bachelor, who lives thousands of miles away and works for the FBI. As the case develops Maddie learns that the victims all wore the same bra size. She must decide if this is merely a coincidence or a criterion the killer uses when selecting his victims. She also finds that each of the victims is somehow connected to the Phoenix police department. This realization isolates her further as she must pursue the killer without disclosing this theory to her department because, if her suspicion is correct, the Beholder would learn she is closing in. As the story races toward its climax, Maddie is betrayed by those closest to her, and she begins to believe her own name may be on the killer's list.
Bishop, David	David Bishop The Original Alibi  Eleven years ago General Whittaker, long retired, former member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, bought an alibi for his grandson who had been arrested for the murder of his fiancée, Ileana Corrigan, and the general's unborn great grandson
Bishop, David	David Bishop The Blackmail Club  Washington, D.C., is a town full of powerful people hiding ugly secrets. The blackmailer, a renaissance man, keeps his promise: pay me, I'll return the juicy evidence I have against you, and you'll never hear from me again. Jack McCall, a former operative for the U.S. intelligence community and now a private investigator hunts this wily and diabolical madman. His victims, having paid and not been further extorted, are reticent to admit ever having been blackmailed. McCall's efforts to solve the case are assisted by Nora Burke, his sexy assistant who also helps Jack recover from the loss of his wife, and Max Logan, a retired detective of Irish-Scottish parentage. Chock full of colorful characters from the worlds of politics, art, and the media, The Blackmail Club is a cerebral, physical and sexy five-course gourmet meal of mystery. Sit back and fasten your seatbelt, relax, and be entertained while you try to fit together the final pieces before you turn the final pages.

Bishop, David	David Bishop Game of Masks Amy O'Sullivan finds an invitation to a masquerade dinner party in her refrigerator, balanced atop a bottle of pinot grigio. If she accepts the invitation, Amy will be picked up by a limousine. She and four competing strangers must wear masks to the party. The winner will receive a choice of either fifty thousand dollars cash or a free murder of anyone the winner designates. Amy could certainly use the money. She also has a person she'd love to see dead. Life is choices and Amy has one to make. As complications set in, Jack McCall is brought in by Amy's uncle, Max Logan, a staff detective in McCall Investigations. To find the solution to what it's all about, Jack will travel halfway around the world. Come along.
Bishop, David	Bishop, David Linda Darby Box sets Novels include: The Woman, Hometown Secrets, The First Lady's Second Man, Heart Strike. For more complete details be sure to click on the Amazon Link above.
Boeck, Christie Seiler	 Christie Seiler Boecke, Murder 101 (F, A) Mount Alexander, Georgia earned it's reputation because of the outstanding college located there. That is until one of it's professors, lurking in the shadows, watched and waited for the right moment, the right victim. Wanted to take the lives of certain coeds attending the college. The first kill was straight forward and effortless. the second even simpler. As the murderer continued to kill, there was no shame, no regret. Detectives Carter Holden and Riley Anne West are assigned to investigate the deaths of the coeds attending the college. A harrowing journey begins as they become consumed with finding who and why a professor is murdering the young women, students of the college. A body is found and another, as the nightmare continues. The two detectives race to find the cause of the terror overshadowing the college. There are few places to hide and numerous places to die as the killer's rage grows.

Boehm, Rita		Rita Boem, Another Chance: Peter's Story (F, A) In the exciting conclusion to the Second Chances trilogy --Peter Campbell retreats to an ancient farm on the west coast of Ireland and attempts the delicate task of rebuilding a life destroyed by Yemeni terrorists. When he becomes entangled in the complicated and secretive lives of his neighbors, a precocious six-year-old boy and his mother, he builds a tentative bridge to the dangerous world he used to inhabit...and is drawn ever closer to the frightened woman who trusts him to save her. He's a broken man incapable of love … or is he?
Boehm, Rita		Rita Boehm, Beyond Second Chances (F, A) In this exciting sequel to Second Chances, Lindsay Talbot is faced with a difficult choice: travel to a poverty-stricken, terrorist-filled, Arab country to save the life of the man she loves, or leave his future to chance. She makes her choice and pays the price. However, as Lindsay recuperates from a violent assault much closer to home, she is confronted with a devastating betrayal - and faces an uncertain future.
Boehm, Rita		Rita Boehm, Bluebirds in the Garden (NF, C) Colorful photographs present young children with a charming story about a family of bluebirds nesting in a backyard garden. Won Children's Book of the Year at Florida Writers Associations Royal Palm Literary Awards, 2019.
Boehm, Rita		Rita Boehm, Missing on Maple Street (F, A) When young Emily Anders goes missing while in the care of an elderly neighbor, circumstantial evidence mounts against one of the other neighbors. Is he responsible, or is the tragic history of the once grand old Victorian home repeating itself? The plight of the young girl who brought unexpected joy and laughter to the lives of the tenants in the worn old house is seen through the prism of the tenants' own struggles. As the lives of the folks at 21 Maple Street intersect in the search for answers, new relationships are forged and others are strained to the breaking point. What happened to Emily?

Bourassa, Paul	 Paul Bourassa, Boomerang: Baby Boomer from Today's Perspective (F,A) I, for one, am pleased to be associated with any group that has the name "baby" in it. Even if it is the Baby Boom. Just think of those poor X-Gen'ers. It already sounds like they're goners. Yes, there are those things about getting older that we'd rather not think about. So—let's not! Instead, let's look at the humorous aspects of this generation. After all, we're the ones who came up with Laugh-In, Communes, Flower Children, and Nixon. So how serious can it possibly get?
Brown, James	 James G. Brown, Echoes of Remembrance (F, A) Memories can be wonderful celebrations or terrible realities. Over 50,000 veterans, from North and South, gathered at Gettysburg, PA in July 1913. The Great 50th Anniversary Reunion of the Civil War battle was a singular event. For the old soldiers of the Grand Army of the Republic and the United Confederate Veterans, it was a time to rekindle old memories. But for Jimmy Valentine, of the 149th New York Volunteer Infantry, the memories are ones he would rather not revisit. He still lives with the pain of lost friends and a shattered romance that brought him to the army. His journey back to Gettysburg reopens memories of those terrible three days in July, 1863. The memories have aroused his hatred of the Rebels and his own guilt for what transpired. Can he resolve unfinished business? Or will the memories hold him captive forever?
Burt, Joslin and Wilson	 Jolyn Joslin-Burt and Kristin Wilson, The Adventurers (NF, C, YA, A)
Burt, Steve	 Steve Burt, Dumb Jokes for Kids series (First, Second, Third, and Fourth Worst Joke Book) (NF, C)

Burt, Steve		Steve Burt, Christmas Soup for the Soul: 10 Hearty Helpings from New England's Christmas Story Pastor (NF, C) 2017 Florida Book Festival Award for Best Holiday Book
Burt, Steve		Steve Burt, The Bookseller's Daughter (F, A) Could Things Get Any Weirder in Wells, Maine? Working at her mother's hole-in-the-wall bookstore, Annie's Book Stop, 17-year-old Keegan has read plenty of mysteries. But she's never been part of one. Until now. It starts when someone--or some THING--burglarizes a different business in Wells, Toil & Trouble. It specializes in occult, magic, and rare books. The thief steals an obscure book of little interest except possibly to a collector. Things get stranger when a visitor appearing to be a hunchbacked nun comes into Annie's Book Stop and asks Keegan to order a reprint of the same book--plus two books on local graveyards! But before they can be picked up, a robed and hooded figure breaks into Annie's after hours and rifles through the special-orders shelf. Is there more to this book than meets the eye? More questions come up, but the most important one is: Can Keegan survive long enough to unravel the big secrets of her small town?
Burt, Steve and Jolyn Burt		Steve and Jolyn Burt, Publish Your Book Free: Step-By-Step Beginner's Guide to CREATE SPACE Print-on-Demand Publishing (NF, A) 2017 Florida Book Festival Award silver Best How-to and 2017 New England Book Festival Award bronze Best How-to

Campbell, Robert	 Robert W. Campbell, Flyabout (F, A) I was inspired by the true story of 17-year old Juliane Koepcke who was ejected from an aircraft at nearly 12,000 feet and survived the fall into the Peruvian jungle below with only minor injuries. The setting of this fictional novel, Flyabout, finds Professor Derek Hunter and beautiful flight attendant, Michelle Sherry, hurtling to the surface of the Australian Outback after a catastrophic cargo door explosion blasts open a ragged gaping hole in the side of their aging airliner. Violently ejected out of the aircraft through the hole, Michelle and Derek fall to earth through a brutal thunderstorm. Their lives are spared when ferocious updrafts drastically slow their descent. While they land in the midst of dense muddy underbrush, (hurt but alive), the crippled and uncontrollable airliner flies onward until crashing hundreds of miles away. When rescue never comes they undertake a deadly gamble—a hike across the searing Outback in search of civilization.
Canaan, Don	 Don Canaan, Conceived in Liberty: A comedic timeless romp through history (F, A) As Britain tries to regain its 13 colonies, time travel with us through the American monarchy founded by Benedict Arnold. The United Kingdom and Benedict Arnold, with the assistance of his British masters, transformed into the Union of Royal American States after defeating George Washington at Yorktown. "Conceived in Liberty," is a comedic, sci-fi, time-traveling romp through history by award-winning journalist Don Canaan
Canaan, Don	 Don Canaan, Daddy's Girl (F, A) Studies have confirmed that molested children often become molesters themselves. Daddy's Girl, a horror novella based on a true "ripped from the headlines" story, serves as a prequel to Pretty Little Girl, a psychological thriller in which a female detective searches for a molested daughter who, in a concerted attempt to regain her identity, abandons her now-demented father.
Canaan, Don	 Don Canaan and Shawn Graves. Pretty Little Girl (F, A) The e-book version of Pretty Little Girl, published in 2014, is now available free for Kindle, Nook, Kobo, Smashwords and from the iTunes store

Canaan, Don		Don Canaan, Spaced-Out: Baby's Final LSD Trip (F, A) You don't have to be Jewish to empathize with "Baby," a 10-year-old boy who, salivating over a comic book containing titillating panels of Wonder Woman's breasts, learns his GI father has been killed during a World War 2 battle. This shocking news, as well as learning about the Nazi extermination of Six Million Jews, converts the now-adult Baby's quest for comfort into a path resulting in alcohol, LSD and murder. However, his drug-induced euphoria continues to haunt this search for love. Wherever he goes realistic visions of Nazis constantly follow him. Judith, an editor of a singles dating magazine, rescues Baby from the streets of New York City, nurturing him in an attempt to unlock his fantasies and return him to reality. But by doing so, Baby's paranoia and guilt are accentuated.
Canaan, Don		Donald Howard (Don Canaan), Tijuana Bibles (NF, A) These small eight-page books of comic strips depicting popular cartoon characters, actors, politicians and athletes as lewd or obscene parodies of themselves first appeared in the United States during the 1920s, and were sold into the 1960s. These booklets were widely popular and were known by a variety of names including "Tillie and Mac books," "blusies," and "blue bibles." However, we know them today as "Tijuana Bibles" or "eight-pagers."
Canaan, Don		Don Canaan (Editor), Israel News Faxx Index 1994-2017 (Kindle, NF, A) Hyperlinked index to Israel News Faxx, 1994-2017. The stories encompass the history of Israel, the Palestinian Authority as well as Jews around the world. The 2018 index will appear early next year
Canaan, Don		Don Canaan, Gone is the Wind (Kindle, F, A) The adventures of a pre-teen boy who encounters a mysterious, satanic-type, bagel-pretzel vendor on the street adjacent to the City College of New York. Raymond, as he is known to students that included General Colin Powell, entices the child to retrieve a balloon attached to a bagel. If he successfully completes this mission, the child and his family would be awarded a year's supply of free bagels. But the mission is harder than it seems and the child is sent back into time.

Canaan, Don and Osborn, Tessa	 Don Canaan and Tessa Osborn, Entangled: A Liz Roberts Mystery (F, A) Entangled, a stand-alone novella, concludes the series of "Daddy's Girl," "Pretty Little Girl" and "The Baby Thief." Entangled, the final battle between good and evil, will reveal answers to questions raised in the earlier books. It is e-book, print and audiobook formats, as well as in Portuguese and Spanish versions.
Center, Linda Ray	 Linda Ray Center *Crystal Discovers The Glow While on a beach trip with her family, an accident transports eleven-year-old Crystal Atwater to a fantasy world of mermaid life and adventures under the sea. When faced with overwhelming fear, Crystal starts to ask some big questions. What does my future hold? Who made the universe? Why do I disobey? Filled with determination to find answers, Crystal discovers the power of God and the truth to her questions. These truths set her free from fear and give her an inner glow. Once fear is gone...anything is possible.
Chapman, Charlene	 Charlene Chapman, The Elementary School Guidance Counselor's Bible (NF, A) 45 group guidance plans for grades 1-5 on relevant topics: Study Skills, Drug Free, Home Alone, Bully Free School, Respect Yourself & Others, Healthy Eating, Good Touch/Bad Touch and more.
Chapman, Linda & Sanders, Mary Lois	 Linda J. Chapman & Mary Lois Sanders, Freddie & Stumper, Best Friends Forever (F, C) Freddie and Stumper, a young bullfrog, are best buddies and love having adventures in the Georgia swamp near Freddie's house. But when Freddie's parents tell him they are moving to Florida to a new job and a new home, Freddie doesn't want to go. What will he do without Stumper to talk to?

Ciotti, Jack	 Jack Ciotti, Michael, What Page Are We On? (F, A) Michael, What Page Are We On? is an episodic, comical story of a history lover, Jimmy, who, at the age of forty, naively plunges into a second career as a Catholic School teacher. His unrealistic expectation of classroom life is based on memories of his own schoolboy days decades before, leaving him shocked to see that behavior and discipline in schools have suffered a sea change, and not for the better. So, he is forced to develop an eclectic strategy of teaching and coping skills to deal with continuous unforeseen situations. As a detached witness to scandals and sometimes at odds with holier-than-thou administrators, Jimmy's career carries him through a series of Catholic schools in locations as diverse as a dreary ghetto in the Northeast to a sun splashed enclave of the rich and famous on the east coast of Florida. Whenever his teaching days seem over forever, he manages, helped by strange coincidences, to get hired at another location. Can guardian angels really exist? This book is a work of fiction. Although its form is that of an autobiography, it is not one. Any names, characters, places, events, and incidents are products of the author's imagination or are used in a fictitious manner. Any resemblance to actual events or to actual persons, living or dead, is purely coincidental. The opinions expressed are those of the characters and not the author. There is no intent to harm any real person of institution.
Clark, Garneau Paul	 Paul Garneau Clark, Big Birds In The Villages, Florida (NF, A) 2nd edition: These field guides provide photographs and descriptions of larger birds in The Villages, Florida. Intentionally regional confined, the guide points-out simple uniquely identifying characteristics that differentiate one bird from another.
Clarke, J.J.	 J.J. Clarke (Julie Johnson), Dared To Return (F, A) Kate Anderson, a highly successful young journalist, receives a desperate call from her grandfather, a victim of the town's white- collar crime organization. Drugged and put in a nursing home, Pops turns to the one person he can rely on to fight for him and make the bad guys pay. A novel of friendship, grit, and hope, Dared to Return will have you cheering for Kate and her friends as they unravel the sinister secrets of this thriving town. The attorneys, accountants and doctors are against them. How can they win?

Clarke, J.J.		J.J. Clarke (Julie Johnson), Dare to Run (F, A) Kate Anderson, a young parole officer, is stalked by a politically connected deputy sheriff and discovers an underground network of women helping women escape abusive men. When the deputy is killed, Kate becomes the prime suspect. Rather than face a murder charge, she goes on the run. Come along on a high-tension ride with Kate as she evolves from her first job, to a woman stalked and terrorized, to a fugitive staying one step ahead of the law.
Collier, Lindsay		Lindsay Collier, The Funniest Book You Will Ever Read. Period! (NF, A) I laughed my whole way through the writing of this book. If you have as much fun reading it as I had writing it, you are in for a real treat. Have a blast reading it, laugh your ever-loving butt off, and share it with your friends - and maybe even your enemies (who will then become your friends). Keep on smiling and be someone else's reason to smile each day.
Collier, Lindsay		Lindsay Collier, Fifty Shades of Growing Old *(NF, A) 'Fifty Shades of Growing Old' is really all about 'Growing Young' in your second fifty years. Lindsay Collier's popular "Growing Young Site' blog has been a great source of creative ideas on how to stay young for those in their second fifty years for several years, and this book contains some of the best articles from this site. Some say that growing old is like being on an airplane during a storm - once you're aboard there is nothing you can do about it. Don't believe that one bit - these books will prove this theory is wrong! Lindsay was formerly one of the foremost creative thinking experts in the US and has now focused his skills on ideas to help people add zest to their lives. The ideas are useful for anyone but are spot on for seniors. Every senior needs this book! The book can be read cover to cover or just opened to a random page for a thought or two to really make your day. Articles are short and to the point, often quite funny and entertaining, challenging, and always a bit different. You should have a copy of this book in your den or office, bedroom, bathroom, garage, car, basement, tool shed etc. This is a part of Lindsay Collier's "Live Your Life To the Fullest' series which includes 5 other books that take a creative look at topics ranging from how to add humor to your life, how to live happily ever after, retirement, and surviving loss. Please enjoy!
Culbertson, Alycyn		Alycyn Culbertson, Look What Happened While I Was Sleeping (F, C) This book is dedicated to teaching children (and their parents) about the lifecycle of the monarch butterfly in hopes of encouraging them to take an interest in this delicate, fragile and beautiful part of nature. Butterfly gardening is a simple and continuously rewarding hobby. It is done at home, no fancy clothes or tools, by anyone at any age. Determine what nectar plants thrive in your climate zone and plant them in your garden or put them in containers on your balcony, the butterflies will come! Plant some host plants amongst the nectar plants and the butterflies will stay! Nature's splendor and beauty is just a few plants away.

Davenport, Marian	 Marian Davenport, God's Desire is You (NF, A) God's Desire is You is a revelation of the prophetic words found in the Song of Solomon. Through Solomon song God prophetically revealed the story of his love for mankind throughout human history. Written as a devotional, personal experience, dreams, and visions reveal supernatural encounters that stretch us with the possibilities of knowing God intimately
Davenport, Marian	 Marian Davenport. When Heaven and Earth Kiss (F, A) Marian's first Christian novel tells the story of what happens to a community when God answers their prayers asking for His kingdom to come. Nothing is what would be as angels appear and people are healed, raised from the dead, and delivered from demons. God's love flows through the stories of transformed lives. Many of the events are from real life experiences. Marian is a student and teacher of the Bible. She believes the Word of God promises much more than we are living. Her desire is to help people find God's love and the joyful fulfillment of being a child of God. This book was birthed through her personal experiences with God, and other people's miracle stories.
Davenport, Marian	 Marian Davenport. Who is God? Who Am I? Why am I Here? (NF, A) This Christian book was created as a simple tool to answer the three title questions. Real truth is only found in the Bible so scriptures are used throughout. It is a great resource for one-on-one mentoring. People want to know what belongs to them as a child of God and this delightfully illustrated book is the answer. As a young woman who wanted to do what was right, Marian Davenport was conflicted. Too often, both sides of a story sounded true. When she met Jesus and opened a Bible, she found The Word to be truth. The Bible was a solid place to put her faith. The words have proven to be true, and she hopes everyone can know the joy, peace, and God's love, waiting within the verses.

Dean, Diane		Diane Dean, Luna, a Dog Named After the Moon (F,C) Luna, a talking puppy with a positive attitude, deals with being adopted, fears, boredom, and a bothersome cat. When trouble happens Luna uses her animal instincts to help. Have you ever thought a dog was talking to you? Luna is the lovable puppy who does just that. When adopted by a family in a hectic Hollywood household, she seeks to achieve her own fame and purpose. As Luna tells of her experiences, we see an appreciation for the important things in life. Parents and grandparents reading the story to children may find conversation starters in the life lessons Luna learns. The puppy's sense of humor and a balance of humility and ego will bring a chuckle to adults.
Dears, Donn		Donn Dears, Energy: the source of prosperity (NF, A) Energy. The Source of Prosperity, describes why fossil fuels have supplied the energy that's created modern prosperity, where vast numbers of people live long, productive lives. It examines the Green New Deal and whether its promises are genuine or a trap. For example, is so-called clean energy able to replace fossil fuels? And, will the Green New Deal usher in a debilitating era of Socialism? Parts One and Two establish basic concepts including why socialism eventually leads to fascism and why climate change is not an existential threat. Part Three is a collection of articles previously published by the author examining a host of issues related to renewables, fossil fuels, and nuclear power.
Dears, Donn		Donn Dears, Nothing to Fear (NF, A) Nothing to Fear An Engineer explains why mankind has the ability to withstand nearly everything mother nature may throw at it, so long as mankind doesn't institute policies that cripple its ability to respond to potential threats. Mankind needs the availability of more energy that's both affordable and reliable, if it is to have the ability to respond to severe weather, heat or cold, rising seas, drought or any of the other conditions that could afflict people worldwide. The terrible conditions that plagued mankind in the past, when it lacked the energy to protect itself, included famines, starvation, death from freezing cold, and death from diseases that are now largely under control.

Dears, Donn	 Donn Dears, Crisis in the Middle East (F, A) http://amzn.to/2Ga3PNU Crisis in the Mideast tells the story of the dangers and intrigue associated with Iran's cutting off one-fifth of the world's oil supply. Internal conflicts within the administration confuse America's response, while Iran's actions are the result of schisms within the Iranian government. Restoring the flow of Saudi Arabia's oil is crucial to resolving the crisis.
DiDomenico, Ruth	 Ruth DiDomenico. Chapter 11 (NF, A) Chapter 11, in legal terms, is a business bankruptcy reorganization. My chapter 11 is a personal bankruptcy reorganization that began with the sudden death of my husband of sixty-two years. In one week, I was a different person doing a different thing with a different focus.
Dobkin, Anne	 Anne Dobkin, Age 101 and Still Having Fun (NF, A) A memoir about my Mom, a strong, independent and unconventional centenarian who reached the ripe old age of 102. What intrigued me to write about Mom was that she lived life her way, overcoming adversity and persevered through many hardships, constantly striving to live a long, healthy life in order to reach her goal of 100 years of age.
Erickson, George	 George Erickson, Unintended Consequences: The Lie that killed millions and accelerated Climate Change (NF, A) In this update of Unintended Consequences, best-selling author George Erickson exposes the lie that created our grossly excessive radiation safety standards, the damage those regulations have caused and his dismay with "greens" who profit from promoting 20% efficient, carbon-reliant solar panels and 30% efficient bird, bat and human-killing, carbon-reliant windmills, but oppose environment-friendly, CO2-free, 90% efficient safe, nuclear power. George has made the pdf of the 2020 update a free download, available at http://nuclearclimatefix.com/node/94

Ferns, Jenny	 Jenny Ferns. Ripple Effect. Because of the War (F, A) The ripple effect of World War Two, good, bad and ugly, spread far and deep in Britain. Veronica, feared she would be too old to marry or ever bear children until she met Richard a handsome RAF pilot. He persuaded her to marry before he went to war. She was jealous when her sister Rachel produced an illegitimate child from an unknown father. The Blitz bombing from the Germans left much of the London in ruins. Before the onslaught, Veronica arranged for the evacuation of Rachel's daughter Susie, to live with her in the country. Rachel was presumed killed by a bomb in the Blitz so Susie grew up thinking Veronica was her mother and the absent Richard her father. Veronica, similar to many other women left alone, learned new survival skills with the deprivation of rationing. She learned to love Susie as her own. Loneliness, with war-forced separation from her husband, took a toll on her. When the war ended Richard returned to a wife and an adopted child he barely knew. They struggled to adjust to each other. Richard's alcoholism and outbursts of aggression, as side-effects of battle fatigue (PTSD), began to alienate Veronica and Susie. Veronica despaired when the family appeared to disintegrate. The truth emerged about Richard's issues, and Veronica's and Rachel's guilt and secrecy. Compassion for each other softened the anger. The family began to reconnect and forgive. Susie, an opinionated teenager began to accept but not forgive. Thus a sequel.
Feuerstein, Paula	 Paula Feuerstein, Crackle. Chirp. Chirp (How to help our animal friends). What's that noise coming from inside that plastic bag? "A must-have to introduce children to the impact of litter on wildlife and the environment." - Chelse Hensley, CEO of Recharge Digital Marketing (and Mom). When a baby bird is caught in a plastic bag on a tree branch, Luna and her friends are on a mission to save him. Join them on the adventure as they help their animal friend and learn about the environment! "Teaches that the even the smallest child they can make a big difference." - Rainy Horvath, AA in Environmental Science and Author
Finch, Joseph	 Joseph R. Finch, Faces of the Distinguished Flying Cross of Central Florida (NF, A) First person accounts of men who earned the DFC in WW II, Korea, the Cold War and Vietnam; each chapter written by the men who earned that award, documented with their Citations or Orders. These are the experiences of 24 ordinary young men faced with the extreme circumstance of flying into enemy fire, maintaining their focus and finding the courage to do extraordinary things to help their comrades in arms. The accounts cover various aircraft types and four wars. Filled with personal experiences "Faces" presents true accounts of men who endured the worst and the best of human nature. Contained in this book are the stories of individuals, who were tasked with missions to serve greater objectives. Their resourcefulness, deft ability as pilots and aviators, their concern for fellow soldiers, all carried them through countless moments of bravery and terror. "Faces" also tells a little about their life after war.

Finn, Dayle		Dayle Finn, Samson and Delilah, (NF, C) Samson and Delilah is a true story of an unusual friendship between a yellow Labrador retriever, a white goose, and two people, Mr. and Mrs. Brown
Fleming, Wilma		Wilma Fleming, The Curse at Lilac Waters (F, C) Deep within a spooky Florida forest, the trolls, goats, alligators and magic endure. Can a lost troll, her boyfriend, and one human boy foil the evils and break a curse?
Gemmiti, Pat		Pat Gemmiti, The Resilient Thistle (F, A) Inspired by the true story of 5,000 bloody forgotten Scotsmen taken as prisoners-of-war in 1650 by Oliver Cromwell at the Battle of Dunbar. Daniel MacDhughill, Robert Junkins, Alexander Maxwell and John McKinney are thrown into inconceivable mayhem. Their privations create a new definition of hardship as they endure deplorable challenges of adversity and cruelty on two continents, armed only with the bonds of friendship, tenacity, resilience and courage. Almost four hundred years ago, these bráthairs, comrades, neighbors and friends shared a journey to hell and back, reclaimed their souls and helped form this New World. A mind-boggling story of extraordinary survival.

Greenberg, Rick	 Rick Greenberg, Silent Heroes (NF, A) True life story of Rick Greenberg's experiences in Viet Nam. One reviewer wrote: "Raw emotional account had me on the edge of my seat at times and in tears at others. War is hell and if you didn't know it before, you really know it after reading this poignant account of this marine's experience."
Greenberg, Rick	Rick Greenberg, Desert Burning (NF, A)  Desert Burning is an action-packed story skillfully told by retired Marine Corps Gunnery Sergeant Rick Greenberg. Following Vietnam, Rick leaves the Corps in an attempt to keep his family together. Unable to shake the memories of that war, he finds a friend who shares his nightmares. Following a major life tragedy, Greenberg rejoins the Marine Corps. Coming up through the ranks at a time when the Corps was lacking equipment and a readiness for war, Corporal Greenberg's first task is to deal with a squad of mutinous Marines. When Staff Sergeant Greenberg finds he will be Engineer Support Company's lead convoy commander in the upcoming invasion of Kuwait, he wonders if he'll survive. When the desert is set ablaze, no one knows what Saddam Hussain's next move will be. The scenes Greenberg masterfully draws in Desert Burning are both realistic and gripping. They will easily have you ducking for cover as the bombs explode. Desert Burning is a great read that tells it like it was in America's first desert war since 1943. Learn the true story of Operation Desert Storm from the eyes of an enlisted marine who was there.
Greenwald, Barry & Darlene	 Barry & Darlene Greenawald, Gift of the Amazon (F, A) How far would you go to save someone you love? With every medical option exhausted, Deirdre is determined to save her dying eight-year-old niece. Hope comes in the form of an ancient myth. If the story of the gift of healing is true, can she find it? An Amazon parrot's legendary lineage might be the key to unlocking the secret hidden for centuries in the Amazon rainforest. Hampered by a greedy faith healer seeking to destroy his competition, Deirdre must make life and death decisions. She also has a promise to keep. What will she have to sacrifice to save the one she loves? The authors masterfully weave together two tales. One is a daring adventure. The other is a heartwarming, moving story of hope against all odds, loss, and the complexities of human and animal emotion.

Heathman, Ann	 Ann Heathman, Deny Tomorrow (F, A) AUDIO BOOK: When truth leads to heartache and death, sometimes it's easier to deny truth than face it. Special Ops leader Zach Acevedo takes his team undercover to assassinate the region's prominent warlord. He finds Arianna Garrett, a beautiful investigative journalist hiding beneath a burqa. Zach fights to protect Arianna from the danger she faces if discovered, while Arianna strives to expose the team's covert activities. Johnson, Bev	 Bev Johnson, Guarding Rembrandt's Life, 1606-1633 https://www.amazon.com/Guarding-Rembrandts-Life-Rembrandt-Redeemed-ebook/dp/B07K9KCM1B/ Rembrandt is recognized as of the greatest painters who ever lived. He had both a triumphant and tragic life from his birth in 1606 to his death in 1669. Volume One traces Rembrandt's life from his earliest years to the age of 28 in 1633. The great teaching masters who guided him could see his emerging genius and guided him to achieve his very best. It did not take long for his talent to attract the attention of the Royal Court. He became an established Master in his own right at a Gallery and Academy in Amsterdam. This was the Golden Age of Holland despite the turbulence of the religious reformation sweeping Europe. Among the many people Rembrandt comes to know is Saskia, the woman who will become his greatest love. But obstacles stand in the way of their marriage.

In this second volume Kade has an encounter with an angry bull moose in northern Minnesota's Superior National Forest; he deals with a black bear that is causing concern to hikers at Georgia's Brasstown Bald on the Chattahoochee National Forest; and he becomes a witness when he sees poachers illegally shoot a huge buck deer on West Virginia's Monongahela National Forest. There is a "smelly" encounter with turkey vultures in Ohio's Wayne National Forest and Kade participates on a national fire prevention team in Colorado, where he unexpectedly gets to take a "harrowing" practice ride with up and coming race car driver Scott Dixon prior to the 2002 Denver Grand Prix. Through it all, Kade never waivers in his love for his family, his love of being a Forest Ranger, and his love of the National Forests. He understands that his work is sometimes dangerous, often challenging, but always fun and interesting. "That's life as a "ranger," Kade says. This book will take you through a series of adventures that many dream about, but very few ever experience.
Kincaid, Dan	 Dan Kincaid. A Gift to the Nation (NF, A) https://www.amazon.com/Gift-Nation-National-Capitol-Christmas/dp/1796672491/ In 1987 one of the smallest National Forests in the country, located in the midst of the hardwood forests of southeastern Ohio, was selected to provide the Christmas tree, a Norway spruce, for our nation's Capitol in Washington, D.C. The author, who coordinated the effort, details how the Wayne National Forest came to receive that honor and how a small, dedicated group of Forest Service employees, as well as local organizations, agencies, schools, businesses, and citizens rallied around the project to make it one of the most successful in the history of the annual program. By tying-in the event to the Bicentennial celebrations of the nationally significant Northwest Ordinance and the settlement of the historic City of Marietta, Ohio, the festivities garnered not only local, but state, regional, and national attention.

Kincaid, Dan	 Dan Kincaid Kade Holley, Forest Ranger https://www.amazon.com/Kade-Holley-Forest-Ranger-Vol/dp/1694576280/ref The Kade Holley saga continues as the Forest Ranger experiences adventures related to managing and protecting the natural resource gems of this country – the National Forests. This third volume of the Kade Holley series again includes five stories: 1) Kade, the forester, takes a soil scientist and a hydrologist on a field trip to the Monongahela National Forest's remote Blister Swamp in Pocahontas County, West Virginia. Their mission to collect data is interrupted by a dangerous and unanticipated event. 2) Kade uses his position as a forester on the Chattahoochee National Forest in the mountains of north Georgia to convince an Atlanta TV station to select him as part of a promotional effort to bat against the Braves' All-Star pitcher Phil Niekro. 3) Kade is invited to speak to a high school biology class about some of his most interesting and unusual encounters over the years with birds. 4) Kade leads an effort to have the Marietta Unit of the Wayne National Forest in Ohio selected to provide the Christmas Tree for the U.S. Capitol in 1987. 5) And finally, Kade tells about several interesting experiences while working on northern Minnesota's Superior National Forest, including meeting two famous Minnesotans and surviving a harrowing boat ride across Snowbank Lake during a sudden and fierce summer storm. Although Kade's work in the outdoors often brings with it an element of suspense and frequent danger, there are also treasured moments that come with being a Forest Ranger – and he loves it all.

John Mallon, Bones of Contention (F, A)
https://www.amazon.com/Bones-Contention-Salisbury-Historical-Mystery-ebook/dp/B073YXKZJ8/

Mid-wife, healer, and herbalist Brindy Salisbury followed her dog to a shallow grave in a nearby apple orchard after he brought her a human arm bone. She determined the remaining bones showed signs of a violent death of a young man missing for four years.

Despite protests that Brindy was a non-Christian woman and not skilled enough to make a valid judgment about the identification, she was requested to find the killer. With her niece and a local villager, they shifted through unfounded accusations and challenged reluctant witnesses who hampered their investigation.

Set in rural Somersetshire, England in the early 1700's, Bones of Contention has a convincing plot and memorable characters. Intrigue and drama highlight this historical mystery.

Daniel Bailey worked in Taunton, Massachusetts in the family's import-export business and served as a captain in the town's militia. In 1744 growing tensions between England and France disrupted his world and led to his appointment as aide and advisor to the colonial governor.

When the declaration of war reached French forces at the Ile Royale fortress of Louisbourg, they seized New England fishing boats and attacked coastal towns. In response, the Massachusetts governor sought military assistance from London and recruited 4,000 militiamen from New England colonies.

Because of Bailey's ability to speak French and his knowledge of the fortress, he was promoted to colonel and assigned as the commanding general's chief-of-staff. In 1745, with support from the Royal Navy blockading the harbor, the New Englanders lay siege to Louisbourg. After six weeks, the French surrendered the massive, stone-structure called the invincible fortress.

Salisbury, England, July 1708. Human bones are discovered in a shallow grave under a woodpile. Midwife, healer, and herbalist Brindy and her niece, Blythe, are visiting Salisbury and determine the remains belong to a neighboring woman who disappeared four years before.

With knowledge of Brindy's medical skills and investigative experience, the sheriff confides in her that three other local women are missing. Using a unique way to search for bodies, Brindy, Blythe, and a friend demonstrate its effectiveness. The murderer leaves threatening messages and escalating warnings attempting to discourage them.

Set in the historic Wiltshire city of Salisbury, Hidden Bones has unforgettable characters in this important period of early modern England. Enthralling intrigue and drama keep this a page turner.

Hidden Bones is a sequel to The Last Archers (2016), Bones of Contention (2017), and Holy Bones (2019).

	 John Mallon, Brindy's Blog (F, A) https://www.amazon.com/Brindys-Blog-Collection-John-Mallon/dp/B086PTYYGN/ Brindy Salisbury is a fictional midwife, healer, and herbalist in the rural village of Oakleigh in Somersetshire, England in the early 1700s. Brindy discusses the local weather, people, buildings, and occupations. More important she tells her twenty-first century audience how she assists women in the delivery of their babies, plus her treatment of injuries and illnesses. In her key blogs Brindy describes the local church, the ruins of a Cistercian monastery, instruction on the treatment of burns, recipes for period foods, the fable featuring a Roman Bridge, an ice well, and a book about herbs still published today, over three centuries later. Brindy's Blog relates to the books The Last Archers (2016, Bones of Contention (2017), Holy Bones (2019, and Hidden Bones (2020. Markland, Ronald	Ronald E. Markland, The 23rd Day, (F, A) http://www.amazon.com/author/remarklandThetwentythirdday@gmail.com It can't happen here again… Until it does. When Mark Landre experienced The Beltway Sniper Murder spree firsthand, little did he know that over 20 years later he would discover a similar terrorist plot, BUT NOW ON STEROIDS! When sniper shootings begin to take place throughout small communities in the USA, the similarities go undetected by the local law enforcement agencies. One very simple conversation begins a search that ends up identifying the plan. The leader of the plan has developed a foolproof, undetectable method for direction of the sleepers now being activated to a sniper status. The targets of the terrorists are purely random, there is no tie to race, age, profession, or activity. Unless stopped immediately, the entire USA is in jeopardy of random murders. Due to a small error by the terrorist's leader; the plan is discovered, this is the rest of the story, or is it?

Martin, Lawrence	 Lawrence Martin, Stories of Intensive Care: Medical Challenges and Ethical Dilemmas in Real Patients, (NF, A) https://www.amazon.com/Stories-Intensive-Care-Challenges-Dilemmas-ebook/dp/B07Q1D9GCN/ Stories of Intensive Care is a series of 23 stories about real patients cared for in the intensive care unit. The author, a retired pulmonary (lung) physician, directed the Mt. Sinai Hospital of Cleveland's Medical Intensive Care Unit (MICU) in the 1980s and 1990s. Each story highlights a medical challenge or ethical dilemma he encountered. The first chapter gives an overview of intensive care rounds, how the MICU operates, and what happens, when, during MICU rounds, a patient's heart suddenly stops beating. Succeeding chapters are devoted to one or two patients and the challenges they present. Like Harold Switek, too ill to leave MICU, too psychotic to stay. And Willie the Yellow Man, whose love affair with alcohol exceeded anything you've ever seen. You'll meet a young socialite hospitalized with rapid onset of total paralysis and wonder (as we did): will she ever hug her kids again? And another woman about to have her baby during a terrifying asthma attack. Then there's the young accountant who slept in a coma—for six months! In "The Red Baron" D. Martin tells the strange saga of a man who claimed to be coughing up blood, only that wasn't his real problem. Another patient, dubbed "The Wild Man," is deposited in the emergency department by a family member, who then disappears. The wild man is delirious, but why? These and other patients profiled in the book are all real, with names and other identifying features changed as necessary.

The story takes place in 1993 in the Molybdenum Mountain Ski Resort, not far from Vail, Colorado. One day, as she holds a hose to wash one of the buses, a pulsing orange and blue light frightens her, but also offers her one wish. Before she conceptualizes a wish she is transformed into a male mountain gorilla. Through her boyfriend, Kurt, a handsome mechanic, she learns that the resort has brought in a dozen trained gorillas to help install a new ski lift because their labor is much less expensive than machines. This story is her journey, along with Kurt, her boss Blaise, her son, and her Jungian Analyst, to try to understand her metamorphosis, to communicate with the other gorillas, and through them try to determine whether they were also once human. Once she accepts the horror of her new self, she must figure out how to live the rest of her life.

Minard, J.R.	 J.R. Minard, Coach in Cottage C (F,A) A story inspired by 1961 events in the life of Victor C. Prinzi, a Florida State University star quarterback during his time at the Florida School Boys, now known as the notorious Dozier School for Boys Though the story is fictionalized, the actual events that inspired it provide the elusive, grounding connection that readers will appreciate. The story opens with Coach Matt Grazi staring across the dusty field at his daunting opponent, a rag-tag group of teenage boys who definitely didn't want to be there. Although intimidating, it's not long before Grazi comes to the painful realization that far more menacing and life-threatening "sports" are in play at the school. From his first day until his last, Coach Grazi has the reader relating to and rooting for him. "What would I have done in that situation?" echoes throughout, as the narrative builds to its peak, and the decision the coach has to make leads to a satisfying, yet difficult conclusion. Coach Grazi will never forget changing the life of one boy – because that boy changed his.

Newhouse, Mark	   Mark Newhouse. The Devil's Bookkeepers (F, A) Book 1 – The Noose Book 2 – The Noose Tightens Book 3 – The Noose Closes He will risk everything to save the wife he loves as the Nazi noose tightens around the second largest ghetto in Poland. Based on the actual chronology of events leading to the annihilation of the Lodz ghetto, in Poland, this historic fiction is a story of love, friendship and sacrifice in the face of unrelenting suspense as a small group of men are tasked with the risky mission of chronicling the daily events that are harbingers of their fate. Each day tests their resolve and faith. Love and children provide glimmers of hope, but will it be enough to save them? One reader said, "The Devil's Bookkeepers makes me mad, but in a good way." What would you do if faced with these terrible choices? Of the 250,000 men, women and children that lived in the ghetto from 1941-1944, less than 5,000 survived. In a time of terror, ordinary men and women dared to try and live their lives, dared to love, dared to hope. Through the eyes of a man who loves his wife The Devil's Bookkeepers reaches out as a passionate plea to end hate everywhere. I hope my novel honors my parents and all survivors and victims of the Holocaust and genocide, past, present and future. Written by the son of Holocaust survivors, award winning author, Mark H. Newhouse, The Devil's Bookkeepers is a novel of love, friendship, and courage, that follows the timeline of the tightening of the Nazi noose that took place in the Lodz Ghetto in Poland, beginning in 1941, as described in the Chronicle of the Lodz Ghetto, edited by Lucjan Dobroszycki, (Yale University Press, 1984). Some character names are real, while most attributes, conversations, and actions are fictitious since little is known about the authors who wrote this record of the suffering, they, and those they loved, experienced. It will keep you reading until the end and then you'll want more. The Noose (Book 1) won Book of the Year Award at Florida Writers Associations annual Royal Palm Literary Awards, 2019.

Tucker, Paula Stone	 Paula Stone Tucker, Surviving: A Kent State Memoir, *(NF, A) https://www.amazon.com/Surviving-Memoir-Paula-Stone-Tucker/dp/1620063190/ref In a stunning parallel to our own times, this tale of the late Sixties and early Seventies explores the turbulent era of the War in Vietnam, domestic violence, and a young woman's triumph in face of great danger and great loss. In an era as divisive as today's, she witnessed one of the events that became a turning point in public sentiment toward the War in Vietnam. On May 4, 1970, Ohio National Guardsmen fired on students protesting the invasion of Cambodia, killing four students and injuring nine. Standing thirty yards in front of the Guard when they began firing, she escaped with her life. This uplifting journey follows her from her years as a naïve Catholic schoolgirl through her time at Kent State to her development as a journalist and mother. She heals in the weeks following May 4, as she awaits the birth of her baby. Her due date nears but problems arise as her husband becomes increasingly violent. Rejected by her family and without societal protections against marital abuse in place today, she is on her own. In an unexpected turn of events, she is freed from danger, only to have to learn to survive on her own. Surviving: A Kent State Memoir is a finalist for the 2019 Royal Palm Literary Award.
van der Linde, Rosamonde	 Rosamond van der Linde, The Land of No Laws. The Saga of a Small Caribbean Island (NF, A) https://www.amazon.com/Land-Laws-Rosamond-van-Linde/dp/1977703674/ Shortly after moving to the volcanic island of Saint Eustatius, Rosamond launched into her favorite mode - piano lessons. She was immediately arrested and threatened with deportation. These are the stories of the ups and downs from her thirty years spent living in the Caribbean. Ms. Van der Linde is also author of her memoir as a piano-teacher in Vermont, A Piano in Every Room, published in 2010.
van der Linde, Rosamonde	 Rosamonde vand der Linde, A Piano in Every Room (NF, A) https://www.amazon.com/Piano-Every-Room-Rosamond-Linde/dp/0557742862/ An extraordinary piano teacher writes vividly about founding the famous Sonatina School of Piano in her home, with her pianist husband - while they raised their five children with love and music. "The remarkable saga of this present-day musical Von Trapp family is told with wit and heart." Noah Adams (NPR) writes: "There is beauty at Vermont's Sonatina School, and in these pages to follow. Also: love and joy and triumph, amid notes of sorrow, in the saga of the van der Linde family."

Walker, Phil		Phil Walker, Sanctuary in Time (F, A) Scientists have discovered a way to travel back in time. Fearing changes in the past may alter the present, Admiral Jonas Cisco builds the city Sanctuary as a refuge against such a cataclysm. But, an evil man plots to change history for motives of his own. The Gateway, which makes time travel possible, is seized. The timestream is broken and the world, as we know it, blinks out of existence. Sanctuary is left alone, isolated. Now Cisco must lead the courageous people of Sanctuary, against impossible odds, to restore the fracture. Time is not on his side.
Zahorian, Jan		Jan Zahorian, The Day the Sun & the Moon Got Stuck (F, C) https://www.amazon.com/Day-Sun-Moon-Got-Stuck/dp/1533555346 In a beautiful forest beside a great river lived daytime (DT) and night-time (NT) animals. The DTs only left their homes during the day, the NTs only at night. They had never met each other. In fact, each group believed "the others" were mysterious, scary and even dangerous! Then one day everything changed. The sun and the moon got stuck at the top of the sky! Was it daytime or nighttime? Not one of the animals of the forest knew. This was a problem the DTs and NTs would have to solve together.
